TellerMate

Introducing the LiveDrawer Intelligent Cash Drawer

Harness the power of real-time cash counting across your stores.

The intelligent cash drawer builds Tellermate counting technology into the drawer itself. So you have full visibility of all your cash – that's coins and notes. Our patented continuous weighing technology means the system knows how much is held in the drawer at all times. And if there is a discrepancy or an event that matters to you, LiveDrawer will send you an alert.

Accountable

Every cashier and every lane accountable

LiveDrawer slots seamlessly into the checkout process, tracking the amount of cash in a drawer, and eliminating manual cash counts. LiveDrawer tracks each employee's transactions so you have cashier and lane accountability even with multiple users on one point of sale. And lanes stay open even at shift changeover. And at the end of the shift you'll already know the total so you just leave a bank in place for the next day or skim and go.

Visible

Total visibility of the till drawer and lane

With real time transaction-to-transaction insight LiveDrawer keeps a running total of the cash in your drawer. So if there is a discrepancy, LiveDrawer ties the transaction to the user. LiveDrawer automates cash processes and reduces the labor costs of counting cash. That means super-fast cash reconciliation by real-time monitoring of cash levels in all tills versus expected takings. Integrated with your POS, LiveDrawer can even be set to alert your team of overs/shorts or trigger your CCTV system.

Actionable

Real-time alerts and longer-term analysis

Real time alerts can notify a supervisor to perform a pickup or replenishment so you need never run out of change. LiveDrawer spots discrepancies in change given or unexplained over/unders instantly – and with real-time alerts you'll be the first to know. Bank and skim reports prompt the cashier to when the drawer is approaching its preset limits, along with giving a status review of all your tills, reducing the risk of cash exposure on the shop floor. Managers and corporate offices know the exact amount of cash in a drawer at any time, stripping out shrink and unnecessary costs from the process.

LiveDrawer works in unison with your POS, smartsafe and back office systems to provide a closed-loop, real-time view of your cash.

Data LiveDrawer feeds to the POS can even be overlaid onto your CCTV system, producing image-based evidence of fraud.

A well-developed API and market-ready software, mean you can connect your POS and deploy LiveDrawer (and your chosen safe) without major integration coding.

The solution provides reconciliation data both instore, and reporting for head office. Predefined exceptions may also be highlighted or flagged accordingly.

LiveDrawer software makes for a clean integration by handling communication between drawer and safe, and managing drawer input and output functionality.

POS integration can be achieved in-house or via approved 3rd parties. We've already integrated with a number of POS and back-office monitoring system vendors.

Is LiveDrawer right for your business?

Now you've seen the power of LiveDrawer it's time to find out if your business is ready. The next step will be to schedule a pilot.

And to optimise your pilot experience we'll need to understand your pain points and objectives. So we'll undertake a site survey and factor in your current cash store processes. Then we'll work with you to establish the software and hardware requirements.

To help your IT team TellerMate offer out-of-the-box solutions for pilot phase reporting and integration. Taking into account the store furniture and hardware, we'll map out a deployment plan together, setting success criteria and KPIs. We work with retail fixture specialists to ensure the LiveDrawer drawer can slot into your existing checkout layouts.

And when you're ready for LiveDrawer we'll work out a rollout and training plan for both operators and back office staff.
